

JENNIFER AUTRY

Assessment and Admissions Manager
STEP2

Jennifer (Jen) Autry was born and raised in Anaheim, California. She moved to Reno to be closer to family and the Sierra's which are home to her soul. She studied at the University of Nevada, Reno and received her Bachelors in Human Development and Family Studies with a minor in Addiction Treatment Services. She is currently a certified alcohol and drug counselor intern (CADC-I).

Jen lives in Reno, NV with her husband, Joe. She has two kids, two snakes, two dogs, and six (yes you saw that right, 6!) cats.

As the Assessment and Admissions Manager at STEP2, Jen is responsible for client assessments and admission, coordinating with community partners to provide treatment to clients and assisting the management team with policy and program guidelines.

Jen loves watching moms reunite with their children and complete treatment. For her, coin out days and when alumni come back to visit are her very favorite days!

She says, "Family is important to me so being a part in helping keep families together or reunite is rewarding. It has always been natural for me to help others. I find it so rewarding to be a part of helping women find recovery and become empowered."

Jen is an avid reader and loves getting lost in a story. Her grandfather took their family camping and taught her how to fish, so she also really enjoys camping and fishing. For her, it is calming and relaxing especially when she is at her favorite lake in the mountains.
